The Honorable Tammy Baldwin
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Baldwin:

On behalf of the 53 undersigned organizations representing the Nursing Community Coalition (NCC) we thank you for introducing the Workplace Violence Prevention for Health Care and Social Service Workers Act (S.4182) and strongly urge passage of this important legislation this Congress. The NCC is a cross section of education, practice, research, and regulation within the nursing profession representing Registered Nurses (RNs), Advanced Practice Registered Nurses (APRNs),¹ nurse leaders, students, faculty, and researchers. Our dedicated nursing workforce deserves to feel safe in all settings, and this legislation is an important first step.

Nurses and health care practitioners are among the professions with the highest rates of workplace violence. In 2018, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics found that 73% of all nonfatal workplace incidents due to violence were among health care workers.² In fact, those working in health care and social services are five times more likely to suffer workplace violence than other professions.³ This is a growing concern for our current and future nurses, especially at a time when the health care delivery system is already under extreme stress to meet the nation's demands. Currently, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) have longstanding voluntary guidance. However, that is not solving the problem. Like the House-passed bill, S.4182 would work to specifically address the startling realities of workplace violence by directing OSHA to put forth enforceable safety standards.

Addressing workplace violence, especially for our nation's nurses and APRNs who remain on the frontlines of health care delivery in this country, is imperative. We commend you for introducing the Workplace Violence Prevention for Health Care and Social Service Workers Act (S.4182) and urge the Senate to pass this vital effort so it may be signed into law. If the Nursing Community Coalition can be of any assistance to you or your staff, please do not hesitate to contact the coalition's Executive Director, Rachel Stevenson, at rstevenson@thenursingcommunity.org or at 202-463-6930, ext. 271.

Sincerely,

Academy of Medical-Surgical Nurses
